

IGE Press Release

March 22, 2013

IGE/Samsung Electronics Global Business Forum

“The Global Outlook: Grounds for Optimism, but Risks Remain Relevant”

Speaker: Dr. John Lipsky, former First Deputy Managing Director, IMF / Professor of the Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies, Johns Hopkins University

Time and Date: 07:00-09:00, March 22, 2013

Venue: Emerald Room, Lotte Hotel Seoul

Dr. John Lipsky, former First Deputy Managing Director, will assess the fiscal and monetary policies of major economies (US, Europe, China and Japan) and present his forecast for the global economy for the next few years.

Dr. Lipsky will point out the importance of global macroeconomic and financial coordination in today's highly interdependent world and call on the G20 to play a more proactive role in this regard.

The IGE/Samsung Electronics Global Business Forum will be attended by policymakers, business people, researchers and scholars, diplomats, and journalists.
