

IGE Press Release

September 11, 2014

The 227th IGE Distinguished Lecture Forum

Speaker: Yukiko Fukagawa

Professor, Waseda University / Visiting Fellow, Cambridge University

Topic: “Abe’s Labor Reform and Innovation Strategies”

Time and Date: 07:00-9:00, Friday, September 12, 2014

Venue: Maple Room, 4th Floor, The Plaza Hotel

Sponsored by Samsung Electronics

The Institute for Global Economics will host Professor Yukiko Fukagawa of Waseda University, currently a visiting fellow at Cambridge University, to speak on the current state and prospect of labor reform and innovation strategies of Abenomics and their implications for the Korean economy. She will also analyze aging and economic growth based on Japan’s experience and try to present lessons and implications for Korea.

The lecture will be attended by distinguished academics, researchers, policymakers, financial leaders and businessmen, diplomatic corps and journalists.

The 227th IGE Distinguished Lecture Forum is sponsored by Samsung Electronics.