

IGE Press Release

February 29, 2016

<The 248th IGE Distinguished Lecture Forum>

Speaker: Dr. Anne Krueger

Former First Deputy Managing Director, IMF

Topic: “The U.S. in the Global Economy”

Time and Date: 07:00-09:00, Wednesday, March 2, 2016

Venue: Maple Room, 4th Fl, Plaza Hotel Seoul

Sponsored by Korea International Trade Association

The Institute for Global Economics will host Dr. Anne Krueger, Former First Deputy Managing Director at IMF, to its Distinguished Lecture Forum. With her vast experience, Dr. Krueger will share her enlightening views on the 2016 U.S. economy in connection with the U.S. politics and the forthcoming election and the global economy with market turbulence, unconventional monetary policies, and low oil and commodity prices. She will also discuss the implications of US economic and political developments for the global and Korean economy.

The 248th IGE Distinguished Lecture Forum will be attended by distinguished academics, researchers, policymakers, financial leaders and businessmen, diplomatic corps, and journalists.

/End/